Ergowear is the world's only brand specialized in ergonomic underwear for men.

At the end of 2002 Ergowear created the first and original elastic three-dimensional pouch and since then we have developed many products based on this concept. All items that are part of the Ergowear collections are the result of extensive scientific research and development, sophisticated textile engineering and ergonomic design to achieve an excellent fit to the male body.

Every product is manufactured with first class materials in company-owned facilities or external production units in Santiago, Chile.
